Dear College of Science Faculty and Staff:

Once again this year, I encourage you to consider contributing to the State Employee Charitable Campaign (SECC). This is a great opportunity for Texas A&M’s faculty and staff to contribute toward helping improve the quality of life for tens of thousands of individuals who need our support. The SECC website at www.tamus.edu/secc includes information on over 500 charities included in this year’s campaign.

This year, I would like to increase the percent participation of our faculty and staff. Even the smallest donation from a large number of you goes a long way in showing that we can make a difference in the lives of others. The minimum payroll contribution of two dollars a month for a year provides meals for a homebound senior citizen for two weeks. Please visit www.tamus.edu/secc if you would like to make a donation online.

The College of Science has a longstanding record of being one of the most generous groups on our campus. Last year, the College of Science was able to raise $58,276 for the State Employee Charitable Campaign.

If you have any questions or need additional information, please contact the unit coordinator in your department or Ms. Jennifer Holle, SECC Area Coordinator for the College of Science, at 845-8817, jholle@science.tamu.edu

Sincerely,

H. Joseph Newton
Dean
